

Infinity Learn Ltd: Change Management

Infinity Learn Ltd has a sharp focus on practical collaborative actions and systems to improve the golden triangle of teachers, students and parents surrounding teaching and learning.

Kāhui Ako – Communities-of-Learning create opportunities to create new forms of collaboration among teachers, students, families and whānau within and across schools and out into communities. Infinity change management is about supporting you to organise things to get your developments moving and sustain them well into the future.

Kāhui Ako – on the move into the future

Our Infinity change management approach supports leaders and teachers to create dynamic learning with students, families and whānau, not for them.

Our greatest value is to listen to you about your current situation and then support you to design the best fit-for-purpose way forward.

We believe in:

- Creating simple, and powerful ways forward;
- Building trusting relationships among colleagues;
- Acknowledging identity; and
- Manageability to avoid burn-out.

Examples of support.

- Easy-to-understand strategic planning to become more organised.
- Annual scheduling that makes sense of Kāhui Ako and school teams.
- Purposeful meeting arrangements – to manage knowledge building, completing tasks and dealing with the business/administration.
- Create new dynamic inquiry systems that activate and connect individuals, e.g. making sense of various models of inquiry, analysis of your inquiry environment and coaching/mentoring/supervision arrangements that build satisfying collegial learning and improvement relationships.
- Turn-around difficult situations, such as engaging sceptical players and fence-sitters.

Biography & experience

My name is Brian Annan and I look forward to working with Kāhui Ako leads to create sustainable structures and systems within and across their schools and communities.

Leading this work into the new collaborative era can be a daunting prospect in the early years. Infinity can support you to work through the grey areas, prioritise tasks and pace the developments to energise your people. Support to create positive change will be uniquely different in each Kāhui Ako.

Infinity brings considerable skills and experience into the field of change management. We have successful and varied careers as teachers and senior managers in schools and as researchers and change managers in various regional, national and international projects.

We look forward to supporting you in your change priorities to get moving towards your aspirations.

Qualifications & change management experiences

- Fulbright Scholarship to the United States. Successful strategies for 'At Risk' students in extremely challenging situations. 1994.
- MEdAdmin (Hons) Massey University. 1998.
- PhD in Education. The University of Auckland. Doctoral research into effective schooling improvement. 2007.
- Schooling Improvement Co-ordinator & Change Manager – 1997-2010
- Research and Development Director University of Auckland, 2010-2015
- Programme Director, Learning and Change Networks – 2011-15.
- NZ team member for Global Education Leadership Program (GELP) 2012-16.
- OECD's Innovative Learning Environments project Lead NZ Co-ordinator for 2013-16.
- Member of iNOCAL - International Association for K-12 On-Line Learning. 2016-18